

Marc Cryer is Director of the Bureau of Labor Education at the University of Maine, a department dedicated to providing education, information, and research to workers and labor organizations in Maine. The Bureau also provides Minor in Labor Studies. He is a California licensed attorney with a background in public sector labor relations, collective bargaining, and workplace conflict resolution.

- Member of the University of Maine Diversity Leadership Institute Advisory Committee
- Education: B.A. & M.A. International Policy (Korean Focus), Monterey Institute of International Studies, Middlebury College, J.D. St. Mary's University School of Law
- Areas of Work: Labor and Employment Law, Alternative Dispute Resolution, Union Officer Training, including: grievance handling, governance, administrative hearing & arbitration practice